History:

Roll Davis and his family homesteaded on Deadman Creek in 1903. In 1905 Davis found this lake which bears his name. The Forest Service provided fish to stock the lake and the fish were carried there in cream cans by Davis's pack horse. Davis helped build a school for his children and logged.

Cautions:

Weather at this elevation is unpredictable. Carry extra layers and water. Keep an eye out for large animals and have waterproof shoes.

Season	Spring, Summer, Fall

Description:

Davis Lake is a little gem off the beaten track. There are four camping spots and restrooms but no drinking water. No reservations are needed and the free campground is seldom full. The cross section looks steep but only because there is only a 20 ft. elevation gain in two spots. Davis Lake also offers a nice place to camp if you are walking the nearby Thompson Ridge
