Wildflowers on Trail

History:

Although there has been logging and even clear-cuts leading up to this trail, the trail itself is through fairly primitive forest. It was spared from the flames of the White Mt Fire of 1988 to the south and the Copper Mt and Leona fires to the north. The Timber Ridge Rd # 2040 connects to roads leading to the Marcus, Old Stage, Midnight Ridge and Lambert Trails to the north.

Cautions:

Treat surface water before drinking. Prepare for all weather. Watch out for large animals. No facilities and limited parking.

Description:

Timber Ridge Trail is a lightly used back route to the Kettle Crest Trail #13 North. The first 2 miles are gentle but the last mile rises more steeply. It can be used in conjunction with Wapaloosie Trail # 15 with a mile hike along the crest. True to it's name there is timber along most of it's length. It is a good bet for a walk in the woods.
